UK, Europe holiday spots pick up as airlines cut Asian seats

Foreign airlines are filling in the void by flying bigger aircraft from India

SURAJEET DAS GUPTA
New Delhi, 15 June

European and British airlines have stepped in to fill a void in flights to international destinations from India, as its decision to rationalise international services and reportedly mull deferring of aircraft deliveries hobbles Air India from serving holiday-makers post the Iran war.

The anticipated end of the Iran war is unlikely to see an immediate resumption of international leisure travel to pre-conflict levels because many airlines have slashed their seat capacities for June, the first month of the summer holidays. These primarily affect destinations in West and South-east Asia.

However the seat capacity from India to Europe and the UK has increased as carriers like British Airways and Lufthansa have pressed more direct flights and seats into service.

Foreign carriers are pushing new capacity either by adding services or by flying bigger aircraft from India. The most dramatic increase is in direct flights from India to the UK, with seat capacity going up by a massive 18.7 per cent in June.

These airlines are leveraging upon a dramatic fall in

UK dominates with max. seating capacity added

Indians transiting from India to Europe and the US through West Asia due to the war, also benefit from Air India's decision to reduce flights on various European routes.

Air India, which has ordered over 470 planes from Boeing, is rationalising its international services this summer in response to surging fuel price and continuing airspace restrictions, including over Pakistan, that have forced it to fly longer distances.

Airlines have cut seat capacity for not only war-hit West Asia, but across popular tourist destinations in South-east Asia like Thailand, Singapore and Malaysia and even neighbouring Sri Lanka.

According to data from OAG, the seat capacity between India and the UAE has seen the sharpest fall among the 20 busiest country pairs in the world — falling by 14.9 per cent in June year-on-year with over 340,426 seats taken off. This fall is due to the Iran war.

The other sector to be hit is South-east Asia — due to surging air fares that have risen 15-30 per cent. Thailand, the second largest market for carriers from India, has seen seat capacity fall by 10 per cent in June. As many as 266,000 seats went off the air. Singapore — the third largest market — where seat capacity fell by 12 per cent with 249,000 seats slashed, and Malaysia, down 15.4 per cent with 29,000 seats reduced for the month.

The sharp cut in West Asia is not limited to the UAE — the total seat capacity has fallen by 11 per cent in June across the UAE, Saudi Arabia, Oman and Qatar to 1.5 million seats.

Anil Kalsi, vice president of the Travel Agents Federation of India, said: "Thirty per cent of Indians who go to West Asia transit to Europe or the US. The war has adversely impacted this business. And European and UK airlines have taken advantage of this window."

Dubai property mkt lures bargain hunters despite W Asia situation

Industry experts expect slowing investment amid market correction

PRACHI PISAL
Mumbai, 15 June

Dubai's residential property market is continuing to attract buyers despite the fragile situation in West Asia, with some investors viewing the recent correction in prices as a buying opportunity rather than a reason to stay away.

Industry executives and property consultants say geopolitical tensions have introduced caution and slowed investor activity. However, they do not see a structural breakdown in Dubai's housing market. Instead, they point to selective buying by investors seeking discounted assets amid a market correction.

Gulam Zia, international partner and senior executive director at Knight Frank India, said, "While geopolitical tensions in West Asia have introduced some caution in its real estate market, the impact is more sentiment-led than structural. We are seeing selective interest from global, capital-rich investors who view the current phase of price moderation as a tactical entry opportunity."

Amit Goenka, chairman and managing director (MD) of Nisus Finance, said the market was witnessing "two distinct tracks running simultaneously." While investor activity has slowed and the number of investors has shrunk, "high net worth individuals (HNIs) are optimistically buying discounted ready and off-plan projects from larger players," he said.

"The slowdown is well documented. At the peak of the West Asia conflict, investor activity slowed sharply and Dubai's DFM Real Estate Index fell 20 per cent in five sessions, wiping out all year-to-date gains. But beneath it, a counter-movement is active. Properties are already being offered at discounts of 12-15 per cent,"

Buying opportunity

- 12-15% discounts on select Dubai properties amid West Asia conflict
- Q1 CY2026 sales hit dirham 176.7 bn across 47,996 transactions, up 23.4% by value and 5.5% by volume Y-o-Y
- ValuStrat home price

index fell 5.9% in March, its first monthly drop since 2020

- Tax-efficient regime, investor-friendly policies, and reputation as a relatively stable global hub continue to attract investors he added.

Aayush Puri, chief executive officer (CEO) — residential, Middle East, and CEO of Anarock Channel Partners, said Dubai is witnessing activity from both cautious and opportunistic investors.

He added, "Opportunistic investors from Asia and Europe are certainly attracted by the potential for project-specific price corrections and will study the current dynamics for strategic entry options."

Executives cited several factors that are attracting investors despite the regional conflict. According to Goenka, Dubai offers net rental yields of 5-9 per cent with zero income tax, while the UAE dirham-US dollar peg provides currency stability for overseas investors.

He also pointed to the easing of eligibility requirements for Dubai's two-year real estate investor visa and said distressed sellers are creating entry points that did not exist a year ago.

Puri said Dubai's tax-free environment, the Golden Visa programme and 100 per cent foreign ownership in designated zones continue to support investor interest.

"The currency conversion factor works very well for Indian non-resident Indians (NRIs). Also, we must not forget that despite the ongoing fighting, Dubai remains a politically neutral hub," he said.

Sandeep Ahuja, MD of Atmosphere Living, whose firm is currently working on a branded residence project in Dubai, said buyers are taking longer to make decisions but interest remains.

"The situation in West Asia is making some people think about investing in Dubai real estate. It is not true that nobody wants to buy property in Dubai anymore. People are taking their time to think about what's going on in the world and how it will affect their investment," he said.

He added, "Many long-term investors are looking at this as an opportunity to buy as sellers are more willing to negotiate and deals are more lucrative."

Market data cited by industry executives suggests that activity has remained resilient despite the geopolitical uncertainty.

Goenka said Dubai recorded dirham 176.7 billion in residential sales across 47,996 transactions in the first quarter of calendar year 2026.

This is a 23.4 per cent increase in value and a 5.5 per cent rise in volume year-on-year (Y-o-Y).

He also pointed to a decline in a home price index after the conflict escalated. He added, "A ValuStrat home price index fell 5.9 per cent in March from the previous month, the first decline since 2020, though with that drop the gauge was only back to where it was six months earlier."

Puri said, "Prices now hover around dirham 1,980 per square foot, up by about 4.59 per cent over the last 12 months. Yes, that is a cooling down from the 18 per cent nominal price growth of 2024, but what we are witnessing is the froth being skimmed off, not a crash," he said.

On the outlook, executives expect transaction activity to remain measured in the near term but do not anticipate a sharp deterioration in market fundamentals.

Zia said transaction volumes may remain measured as buyers assess geopolitical developments, but demand is expected to remain resilient and the market could stabilise once sentiment improves.

NOIDA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT: FIRST TAKEOFF, FIRST LANDING

Noida International Airport on Monday received its first landing with an IndiGo flight arriving from Lucknow, officials said. The event was shortly followed by the first takeoff from the greenfield project by a flight to Lucknow. The plane carried villagers from the Jewar region whose land was acquired by the state government for the first phase development of the airport. IndiGo flight 6E 2278 took off from Chaudhary Charan Singh International Airport, Lucknow and landed at Noida International Airport, according to airport officials.
