HCLTech recognized as 2026 Global Alliances Americas Partner of the Year by Dell Technologies

NEW YORK and NOIDA, India, June 29, 2026 – HCLTech, a leading global technology company, has been named the 2026 Global Alliances Americas Partner of the Year by Dell Technologies. The award recognizes the strength of its strategic collaboration and its ability to deliver transformative outcomes as a leader in the partner ecosystem.

The company was also recognized as the 2026 Growth Partner of the Year for Global Alliances EMEA, reflecting its impact across key global markets and continued momentum with Dell Technologies.

Together, HCLTech and Dell Technologies enable enterprises to scale AI and GenAI adoption across intelligent edge, cyber-resilient infrastructure and modern data platforms, supported by a portfolio of integrated solutions spanning private AI, hybrid cloud, enterprise transformation and AI-driven customer experience and edge operations. These solutions help enterprise clients transition their foundational infrastructure into outcome-driven, AI-powered operations.

“This recognition reflects the depth of our partnership with Dell Technologies and our shared focus on driving AI-led business transformation for our clients. As enterprises move from experimentation to scaled adoption, we are enabling them to operationalize AI with secure, resilient and outcome-focused solutions,” said Ravi Hadke, Senior Vice President and Head of Tech OEMs at HCLTech.
