Subex wins new deal with a leading African operator to deploy HyperSense Fraud Management solution

Bengaluru, India - October 09, 2026: Subex, a global leader in AI-powered telecom solutions, today announced a three-year engagement with a leading African mobile operator for the deployment of Subex HyperSense Fraud Management solution. The engagement strengthens Subex's presence in Africa and extends its fraud management capabilities to another operating company within a major global telecommunications group.

The operator selected HyperSense Fraud Management to strengthen fraud detection and investigation across communications and mobile money operations. The solution will help identify emerging fraud patterns, improve investigation effectiveness and enable the operator to respond more rapidly to evolving threats.

Commenting on the announcement, Nisha Dutt, MD & CEO, Subex, said:

"For operators running both mobile and mobile money services, fraud now crosses between the two. HyperSense brings AI and deep telecom domain intelligence together to help this operator detect those threats earlier and protect its revenues and customers. Extending our partnership to another operating company within the group is a strong endorsement of what HyperSense delivers."

The engagement reflects continued customer confidence in HyperSense Fraud Management. Subex's extensive experience across African markets brings an understanding of regional operating environments, supporting a deployment aligned with the operator's specific requirements and long-term fraud management priorities.
