Dear Sir / Madam,

Pursuant to Regulation 30 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, update on expected export growth due to the India–UK Free Trade Agreement as below

Jindal Worldwide Limited, one of India's leading integrated textile manufacturers, has welcomed the signing of the India–UK Free Trade Agreement (FTA), describing it as a landmark development that is expected to significantly enhance the competitiveness of Indian textile exports and create substantial long-term growth opportunities for the Company.

The India–UK FTA is expected to eliminate tariffs on a wide range of Indian textile and apparel products, providing Indian manufacturers with a long-awaited level playing field in the UK market. The agreement is expected to strengthen India's position as a preferred sourcing destination while enabling exporters to compete more effectively with countries that already enjoy preferential market access to the United Kingdom.

Commenting on the development, Mr. Amit Agarwal, Vice-chairman & Managing Director, Jindal Worldwide Limited, said:

"The India–UK Free Trade Agreement is a landmark achievement for the Indian textile industry. For years, Indian textile exporters have competed with countries enjoying preferential market access to the UK. This agreement finally provides Indian manufacturers with a level playing field, making our products more competitive and opening up significant opportunities for export-led growth.

At Jindal Worldwide, we see this as a strategic opportunity to further strengthen our presence in the UK and other global markets. We are confident that the agreement will help us expand our customer base, deepen relationships with existing clients, and unlock new business opportunities.

We expect our exports to grow by approximately 15-20% in FY27 and aim to more than double our exports over the next three years. The India–UK FTA will be a key catalyst in achieving this growth by improving market access, enhancing our global competitiveness, and opening new avenues for long-term expansion. With our integrated manufacturing capabilities, diversified product portfolio, and continued focus on quality, innovation, and sustainability, we are well-positioned to capitalise on this historic opportunity while creating
