Press Release

GNG Electronics Limited Announces Strategic Distribution Partnership with Redington Limited to Accelerate Nationwide Expansion of Refurbished ICT Solutions

GNG Electronics Limited (“Electronics Bazaar” or “the Company”), India’s largest refurbisher of laptops and desktops, has, in continuation of its channel-led expansion strategy, entered into a strategic distribution partnership with Redington Limited, India’s largest distributor of IT products, for the nationwide distribution of its refurbished computers across India. This partnership marks a further step in the Company’s efforts to formalize and scale the organized refurbished ICT segment through structured, pan-India channel access.

Under the partnership, Redington will distribute Electronics Bazaar’s range of professionally refurbished laptops, desktops and enterprise computing systems across India. Redington’s pan-India distribution network - spanning Tier 1, Tier 2 and Tier 3 markets is expected to widen GNG’s reach, deepen enterprise, education and institutional penetration, and strengthen access to warranty-backed refurbished systems through one of the country’s most established ICT distribution networks.

Channel has been a key pillar of Electronics Bazaar’s growth strategy. The Company continues to enhance its distribution network by partnering with established distribution and reseller networks that extend its reach across the country. The association with Redington adds one of the deepest distribution ecosystems in Indian IT to Electronics Bazaar’s existing channel relationships, broadening access for its refurbished portfolio across resellers, system integrators, enterprise, education and institutional buyers. This partnership reflects the central role channel plays in how GNG goes to market.

India’s refurbished ICT market has historically operated through fragmented and unorganized channels. Collaborations with established distribution organizations are an important part of formalizing the category and integrating professionally refurbished devices into mainstream ICT procurement cycles.

Through this partnership, Electronics Bazaar expects to enhance distribution velocity, improve geographic penetration, and further embed its products within organized channel ecosystems. The Company remains focused on disciplined execution and sustained category leadership as it continues to scale within the organized refurbished ICT segment.
