1. At the outset, learned counsel for the petitioner would submit that the present writ petition is now become infructuous as the main proceedings before the learned Claims Tribunal has already been concluded, and therefore, he does not want to press the present writ petition.
2. In view of the submissions made by learned counsel for the petitioner, the present writ petition is dismissed as not pressed, however, the petitioner is at liberty to raise all available grounds in the challenge against the main order passed by learned Claims Tribunal, if so advised.
