bp signs strategic partnership with Wipro to build best-in-class finance operations

LONDON | BENGALURU, India | E. BRUNSWICK, N.J. – Nov. 25, 2026 - bp has today announced a strategic supplier partnership with Wipro Limited (NYSE: WIT, BSE: 507685, NSE: WIPRO), a leading AI-powered technology services and consulting company, to transform its core finance operations as it continues to strengthen performance and improve long-term cost competitiveness.

The collaboration will bring together Wipro's expertise in AI, automation, and transformation to drive greater efficiency in bp's finance operations and improve processes. Under the agreement, around 3,000 bp employees supporting finance operations in India, Hungary and Malaysia will move to Wipro.

Kate Thomson, Chief Financial Officer, bp, said, "We believe this partnership with Wipro is the best path forward for bp and our people as we build a simpler, stronger, more valuable bp. It moves us closer to best-in-class finance operations while giving our people opportunities to continue to develop their skills. Wipro brings specialist digital capabilities and investment that will help us make better use of finance operations technology, deliver value for the business more quickly and simplify how we work."

Srini Pallia, Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director, Wipro Limited said, "This landmark engagement with bp underscores our commitment to leveraging our deep domain expertise and Wipro Intelligence to drive large-scale technology transformation. Through this collaboration, we aim to unlock measurable business outcomes for bp in the AI-first world. I also welcome the bp employees joining the Wipro family and look forward to integrating their specialized skills with our consulting-led, AI-powered strategy."

The new operating model is expected to take effect in 2027, subject to applicable conditions. bp will retain overall accountability for standards, controls, data and technology governance, with PwC providing controls oversight.
