While both entities are part of the MICL Group, they operate independently with clearly defined commercial roles and responsibilities. The purchase and sale of PTC FSI/units between related entities represents a strategic consolidation designed to maximize the collective asset value and operational efficiency of MICL Group. By leveraging the "clubbing" provisions under Regulation 33(11) of DCPR 2034, MICL Group can effectively segregate the social housing obligations (rehab component) from the high-value commercial or residential developments (sale component). This internal transfer ensures that the incentive FSI generated from the construction of PTC tenements is utilized on the MICL Group's premium projects, where market realization is higher. Furthermore, conducting this transaction between related parties ensures seamless coordination in project timelines, eliminates the risk of third-party
