HCLTech named HPE Storage Partner of the Year 2026

NEW YORK and NOIDA, India, June 16, 2026 – HCLTech, a leading global technology company, has been named HPE Storage Partner of the Year 2026, recognizing its strong performance in delivering enterprise storage solutions.

The recognition highlights HCLTech's expertise in helping enterprises modernize and secure their data estates. Through its collaboration with HPE, HCLTech enables enterprises to simplify hybrid cloud environments, strengthen data resilience and unlock greater value from their data.

The HPE Partner of the Year Awards honor partners that demonstrate excellence in delivering business value through innovation, strong financial performance and measurable customer outcomes

"The HPE Partner of the Year Awards recognize partners who combine deep expertise with a strong understanding of our portfolio to deliver meaningful outcomes for customers," said Simon Ewington, Senior Vice President of Worldwide Channel and Partner Ecosystem at HPE. "We are proud to celebrate HCLTech's achievements and its role in driving innovation and value for enterprises worldwide."

"This recognition underscores the strength of our strategic collaboration with HPE and our shared focus on helping clients build modern, resilient and intelligent data foundations," said Ravi Hadke, Senior Vice President and Global Head of Tech OEM Strategic Ecosystems at HCLTech. "Together, we are enabling enterprises to harness the full value of their data, simplify hybrid cloud environments and accelerate AI-led transformation with secure, scalable storage solutions."

HCLTech and HPE have collaborated for over three decades to deliver integrated solutions across data center transformation, hybrid cloud, cybersecurity and digital operations. This partnership brings together joint offerings such as U4X powered by HPE GreenLake, RecoverNXT and VaultNXT, along with high-performance computing and cognitive infrastructure services, helping enterprises build future-ready technology environments with enhanced performance, resilience and scalability.
